Art Unit: 1621

The following is an examiner's statement of reasons for allowance:

Applicants' claimed invention is directed to a process for making the compound of formula (V) as illustrated below:

The prior art WO 01/17982 teaches a process for preparing a similar compound. However, the end product is different from the compound of formula 5 as illustrated below. Furthermore, in the instant claims compound of formula (III) is reacted with ammonia and solvent to form the compound of formula (II), whereas in the prior art the compound of formula (III) is reacted with methyl amine, where the chlorine is replaced by methyl amine. Therefore, the prior art does not render the instant claims obvious.
